Time Zones and Daylight Saving Time:

Baja California will be observing Pacific Standard Time on our next clinic, scheduled for March 9. That puts them one hour behind Arizona. So 10:00 on your watch is 9:00 in El Rosario or San Quintin. Remember, most cell phones are set to automatically show the local time. However, San Quintin will switch to Daylight Saving Time at 0200 Sunday, March 11. That means on Sunday, the time in San Quintin and Arizona will be the same.

Pilots need to remember the San Felipe Airport ALWAYS opens at 0800 Arizona time. San Felipe adjust their hours to make this happen.

First Timers:

Sam Grey
Pilot

Sam is a major in the Air Force and flies the EC-130 electronics warfare aircraft, code name: Compass Call.

This is the aircraft Sam flies. Now if we could only borrow one for the weekend we'd be set.

Oh, you can thank Sam for many of the pictures appearing in this report.

We had kind of a problem this month due to van seats. We had 5 airplanes and 17 providers, but we only had 2 vans working. However I needed to take a van into San Quintin to give the insurance office a new check for our policies since the previous check was made out incorrectly. On top of that, Carl Foster, Sam Grey and Richard Razo needed to stay at the San Quintin Airport and install a new vacuum pump we had brought in for Mother Lode's dental clinic, so they needed a van to get to the clinic when they were finished. That left no van for 13 remaining providers. Well, we knew that wasn't going to work so we had arranged to borrow a van from Mother Lode. With that van and having Randy Wells join me in going to the insurance office and having Bob Allen land in El Rosario with his 2 passengers, meant we only needed 9 seats to get everyone to the clinic in the remaining van. Somehow it all worked.

Of the 5 planes 3 left from Ryan and 2 from Marana. Both Carl Foster and Randy Wells needed multi-entry permits for this year so the clear-in at San Felipe took a little longer but was still efficient.

Bob Allen was nice enough to pick up his passengers at Nogales. This alleviated the need for Hunter and Vanessa to drive to Tucson early Friday morning. Bob also choose to clear-in at Punta Peñasco. Doing all of that meant Bob would be the last to arrive so we had him land at Diamante Del Mar in El Rosario so he was much closer to the clinic and it also help solve the van transportation problem down from San Quintin.

Along with taking the check to the insurance office I also took a new fuel pump for the van that wasn't working to Guillermo at the hotel, so it could be installed and hopefully have the third van working.

We got the clinic opened around 9:45 with a large crowd waiting. Master "triagist" Scott Farris took his position and handled triage with dignity and grace. Hunter Nash, Christina Feliz, Bob Smith and Linda Algar took their positions in the Dental area. Patti Daly, MJ Wells, Bruce Stewart and Jennifer Stewart took their positions in medical. Bob Allen set up for glasses, he's very good at that. Vanessa Larios was the floating interpreter, while Carl Foster, Randy Wells and Sam Grey waited for something to break in the clinic so they could fix it. Richard Razo also waiting for something in dental to break.

We closed the clinic at around 5 and drove into San Quintin to Taquera Rodrigues for street tacos. We were back at the hotel by 7. A few met in the bar for conversation, others relaxed in their rooms.

Dental was busy all day

We left the hotel for Mama's Restaurant at 8 in 3 vans having just gotten the third one working. We had a very nice breakfast and got the clinic open a little after 9. The courtyard was full with patients waiting for dental and medical. We started seeing patients but at some point in the morning we ran out of water. That should not have happened since the clinic's cistern on top of the roof should have been full, having been supplied water from the city. There had to be a leak. It was the hard work of Randy, Carl and Sam that found a broken pipe in the patients' bathroom toilet. This was clearly the problem and what also caused us to run out of water last month. With some perseverance and a couple of trips to the hardware store, they got it repaired. Of course repairing the leak didn't refill the cistern so for that we hired a water truck to refill it. A bargain at 350 pesos ($20.59). That sure the hell beat what we did last month which was to fill 5 five gallon water bottles and lug them up on the roof and then pour them into the cistern.

While we were fixing the leak everyone else was attending to patients. I want to especially mention MJ Wells who did a marvelous job in the pharmacy coordinating meds for this clinic and also preparing everything for the upcoming Women's clinic in April. She also planned a birthday surprise dinner for Randy at Los Jardens. Everyone was in on it except, of course, Randy.

Randy enjoying his surprise birthday cake

We closed the clinic around 4:30 and all but Linda, Patti and I, left for the hotel and then to be at Jardenes at 6:30. Patti and I stayed and tried to help Linda with cleaning up the dental area. It took a little longer than we thought it would; the autoclave just won't sterilize any faster. Finally everything was done at around 5:45, we turned the lights off, locked up the clinic and started driving back. We had gotten about half way up the hill when we got a call from Randy telling us MJ had left her cell phone at the clinic and that Scott had left his sunglasses. We weren't far from the clinic and a cell phone is kind of important, so we turned around and opened the clinic back up. With a little searching we found both items. However, by this time it was clear we weren't going to make Jardines in time, so the three of us ended up eating at the hotel. We were still eating when the group returned from Jardens. Hunter, Randy, MJ and Christina came by the table and told us about their dinner surprise, while we regaled our story of leaving and then returning to the clinic. Our effort was not lost on Randy and MJ and they, without telling us, paid for our dinners. Something that was very much appreciated. If I had just known, I'd have ordered something really expensive.

Sunday morning was going well. I found Guillermo and paid him 1500 pesos for the work done on the Dodge van. However, it was just a short time later I noticed Scott and a couple of people pushing the Dodge van back into a parking space. That's never a good sign. It turns out the van had started running erratically on the way back to the hotel on Saturday and now it was hardly running at all. We were able to get everyone in the 2 vans for the short ride to the airport. I did tell Guillermo about the van so he could have it fixed when we return in March. Let's hope we have better luck with it then.

I was the last to takeoff at just a little before 10 Tucson time. Bob Allen dropped off his passengers in Nogales while the rest of us headed toward Tucson. When we arrived we found Tucson very busy. It seemed as though there were more airplanes then Tucson could comfortable handle. As a result there were a lot of missed communications but everyone managed through it and we all landed safely.
